Let's Start!

There are so many presents under the tree!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- How do you give gifts at Christmas or at other holidays? Only to family? To friends?
- If you could wish for anything at Christmas, what would it be? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about family life.
- I can talk about future action, plans and intentions.
- I can talk about what is necessary.

Let's Explore!

The restaurant closes for 2 days at Christmas.

* In the United States, there is only one mandatory holiday day at Christmas.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: More mincemeat pie Peter?
- Peter: I'm going to have to rest a bit before I eat any more.
- Sally: You're actually going to eat more?!
- Peter: Until work starts again tomorrow, it's eat, drink and celebrate.
- Vanessa: You have to work tomorrow?
- Peter: Yeah.
- Vanessa: I'm lucky. The restaurant closes for 2 days at Christmas. I'm going to pack you some lunches for the week.
- Peter: Everyone will envy me! I'm going to have to hide them!
- Sally: The magazine office opens tomorrow as usual. I'm getting a new assignment. This evening I have to stop at my parents' place. Dad is picking up my grandmother at 6. We're having our yearly family gathering tonight.
- Vanessa: I always chat with my family early Christmas morning. Britain is 5 hours ahead timewise. My sister's always up early with her kids.
- Peter: My family does a January 1st event. We only have snacks and open gifts on Christmas Eve.
- Sally: Are we going to open our gifts?
- Vanessa: First I have to clean up a bit.
- Peter: I'll help.

Learning Points

The Future

You can talk about the future in different ways.

You can use going to (+ base verb), the present continuous (be + -ing) or will (+ base verb).

The structure you use depends on what you want to say.

You use will to talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future.

Example:

I'll help.

You use going to to talk about intentions.

Examples:

Are we going to open our gifts?

I'm going to have to rest a bit before I eat any more.

The Present Continuous tense is used to talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future.

Examples:

We're having our yearly family gathering tonight.

You use the Simple Present tense to talk about schedules or timetables in the future.

Example:

The restaurant closes for 2 days at Christmas.

Saying What is Necessary

When you say what is necessary to follow advice, you use have got to, or going to have to. Have got to focuses on now and in the future. I'm going to have to focuses on the future alone.

Examples:

- I'm going to have to rest a bit before I eat any more.
- You have to work tomorrow?
- I'm going to have to hide them!
